Gratitude Reflection

"Nothing is taken for granted;
Everything is received with gratitude;
Everything is passed on with grace,"
— G. K. Chesterton

1 Notice the blessings in everyday life

a) What are three ordinary things from this past week (a person, a moment, a meal, a second chance) that I'm thankful for?

b) What is one good thing in my life that I usually overlook or take for granted?

c) When during my day can I pause for 30 seconds to notice something good, and what will I look for?

2 Remember the people who help us grow

a) Who are three people (a parent, teacher, coach, friend, or mentor) who have helped me become who I am today?

b) What is one specific thing each person has done for me that I haven't properly thanked them for?

c) How and when will I thank one of them this week: a spoken thank-you, a handwritten note, or a text?

Gratitude in Action

3 Turn gratitude into kindness

a) Who around me might feel left out, discouraged, or overlooked right now?

b) What is one small act of kindness I can do for that person in the next few days?

c) What is one habit of kindness (like encouraging someone, helping at home, or listening well) that I can keep up beyond Thanksgiving?

My Thanksgiving Challenge

This week I will thank: _____

I will show kindness to: _____

Today I thank God for: _____

Gratitude doesn't mean everything is perfect. It means noticing what is good.

May we carry grateful hearts and generous spirits throughout the year.
